

CANDIDACY STATEMENT FOR IASP ELECTIONS 2024

DR. ARCHANA S. MUTHYE

I am from Jabalpur, Madhya Pradesh and after my Post Graduation; I obtained my PhD in Applied Economics. While working for Environment and Forest I realised that there are many economic and social issues related to rural and tribal population that needs to be addressed and have put forth them on various forums.

I am fond of writing and my articles on various social issues are published in leading newspaper of the country. I am a life member of IASP since year 2016. I have been actively participating in various conferences organized by IASP. I was Chief Co-ordinator in the recently concluded conference at Vadodara.

I am excited to run for the Executive committee again and building on my fulfilling tenure as an executive committee member and western region coordinator for the tenure 2022-2024 in IASP. I have already taken the initiative to start an essay competition to promote engagement and showcase diverse perspectives within our community. This essay competition is expected to generate significant interest among young participants and gain prestige over time. Since I am associated with the academic world, I will try to increase the membership of IASP as well as organize training programs, symposiums and workshops for research on the marginal community so that people doing research in this field will get help. My direct association with the rural and tribal community will prove helpful in understanding the issues of population policy, literacy, demography, nutrition, policy-making and public health, addiction, and school dropout rate of teenage girls in villages. My focus will be on sustainable livelihoods for marginalized communities. I am committed to advancing our IASP's role as a think-tank for the policy makers and stakeholders. I again need your support and cooperation so that more innovative programs can be added to the association.

Thanks and Regards
